ADVISING

Competent and caring advisors are essential to a college student's academic success. You should meet with your advisors regularly. You will be assigned an advisor in the College of Liberal Arts advising office who is there to help you navigate your degree program from CUSTOMS to graduation.

You will also have a faculty advisor who will provide academic guidance each semester and offer valuable insight on careers and other educational opportunities.

EXPLORE YOUR WORLD

Students need to be comfortable operating in a globalized, multicultural society.

ENGAGE YOUR MIND

Students need to be critical thinkers capable of solving complex problems in an unstructured environment.

ENRICH YOUR LIFE

Creativity is the hallmark of successful entrepreneurs. Enhance your creativity through the fine and performing arts.

SHAPE THE FUTURE

Liberal Arts students are encouraged to take advantage of MTSU's numerous study abroad opportunities, experiencing different parts of the world and learning firsthand about other cultures. Many of our students also take advantage of internship opportunities in Las Vegas, Nashville, New York City, and Washington, D.C., gaining valuable experience working with a variety of people, fostering a deep appreciation for their place in a globalized society, and developing a passion for solving complex problems. Our students who learn a second language are provided with a competitive edge in job interviews and often have a wider range of employment options. Consequently, we encourage all of our students to add world languages to their degree programs and develop second-language fluency.

SOLVE REAL-WORLD PROBLEMS

Communication, critical thinking, ethical and independent decision-making, and creativity are critical learning outcomes for Liberal Arts disciplines and crucial for the success of our economy now and in the future. Eighty-two percent of executives whose current job responsibilities include recruiting, interviewing, and hiring new employees, believe a college degree is an essential and worthwhile investment and overwhelmingly endorse broad learning and integrative learning skills as the best preparation for long-term career success (Source: AAC&U). Liberal Arts students tend to be well-prepared for their first career and subsequent career changes because they have the knowledge and skills to adapt and grow, from their first job after graduation to the job they hold 30 years later.

SHOWCASE YOUR SKILLS

From staging theatrical productions in Tucker Theatre to performing at halftime in Floyd Stadium with the Band of Blue to showcasing the latest creations in Todd Art Gallery, opportunities abound for all students to be involved in our fine and performing arts programs. Taking advantage of these opportunities can be a tremendous help in preparing our students for the world after graduation. Being a successful performer requires learning how to "fail up" after a less than stellar performance, and it can take several attempts to translate an artistic idea from your mind to your medium. These experiences are beneficial in helping students gain more self-confidence and be better prepared to meet future challenges.
